BISHOP LOXLEY WALTERS

We chatted with Bishop Walters about our community of SFWC Youth & Young Adults...

He explained that through the development of our Youth & Young Adults Ministry and our biweekly YAHWEH's Saturday Roundups that he is "convinced God has called [young leaders] for a time like this;" to build a very essential foundation for the future generation and their emergence as future leaders.

In and amongst vibrant, bold, creative, and gifted young people, "a fresh flame [is being ignited]" through our local ministry and with the right source of guidance, lost young people in our communities and beyond will be emboldened to know Christ and surrender their whole selves to Him.

Bishop mentioned something important, however: "No man is an island; no one lives alone." The flesh can win out when young people don't have a community to encourage them in the Lord. They need the support of one another; they need a community they can seek in confidence.

Right now, there are young people around us in relationship with God who are desperately seeking this. We know that amazing things happen when young people are surrounded by others they can relate to and our local Youth & Young Adults Ministry has continued to provide opportunities for that.

Bishop hopes that the young leaders of our local ministry will continue to avail themselves of truth, clarity, (and wisdom), so that they can present it to and implore the growth and development of the next generation because they are the future.

In your prayers today, please remember our young people and continue to seek God on behalf of them.
